Ford—Built to Support Your Work

Built Ford Tough®—this has been Ford's mantra for decades. It's well-deserved, as Ford trucks have tackled tough jobs over the years. While the slogan was coined in 1979, Ford has been one of the world's most prolific vehicle manufacturers for over a century.

Henry Ford sold the first Model A in 1903. The Ford Company was an instant success and began turning a profit a few months after the first car rolled out of the plant.

Henry Ford began optimizing vehicle production with the assembly line in 1913. In 1917 Ford launched its first truck—the Model TT—with a one-ton cargo capacity.

Ford supported American troops in World Wars I and II by producing boats, tanks, aircraft engines, tractors, cars, and ambulances. The company halted civilian vehicle production during World War II to make planes, tanks, and aircraft engines.

Ford rapidly has evolved into the commercial vehicle market and now produces box trucks, cargo vans, cab & chassis trucks, medium-duty trucks, and more.

Gabrielli and Ford—A Combination You Can Depend On

Rosenbauer—America's Choice in Fire Apparatus

Drawing on over 145 years of fire apparatus manufacturing, represented in over 100 countries, Rosenbauer has unmatched expertise in providing fire trucks designed to meet any need. Rosenbauer's engineers understand that no two departments' needs are the same. That's why they make great efforts to determine the exact needs of fire departments and design fire trucks to meet their requirements. These are not cookie-cutter trucks. These are trucks designed around the firefighter, for the firefighter.

Based in Austria, Rosenbauer entered the U.S. in 1995. Within 25 years, Rosenbauer has become one of the most popular fire engine brands in the US market. This rise can be attributed to their commitment to excellence, putting firefighters first, and building trucks ready to respond when lives and property are at stake.

Rosenbauer Fire Trucks Offer State-of-the-Art Features

Rosenbauer's engineers work daily with American firefighters to understand the needs and ever-changing standards to build the best fire truck out there.

Some of the brand's most notable new developments include:

Clean Cab Concepts

The contaminants on turnout gear can cause cancer and other long-term detriments to firefighters' health. To address this issue, Rosenbauer's patent-pending CleanAir system utilizes two types of filters to scrub the air and neutralize volatile organic compounds (VOCs), protecting the safety and wellbeing of firefighters during and after any emergency response.

Green Star Idle Reduction Technology (IRT)

With more and more of America's communities taking a proactive stance toward reducing air pollution, Rosenbauer has answered the call with their Green Star IRT system. Instead of using the high-horsepower engine to run warning and scene lights, IRT employs an auxiliary diesel generator, lithium batteries, or a deep cycle battery system to perform these functions, saving the department fuel costs while reducing air pollution.

Digital Solutions

Rosenbauer understands that information is power on emergency scenes, whether that be a fire, rescue, or hazardous materials response. Rosenbauer's EMEREC system provides scene commanders with a tablet that can be used remotely from the fire truck to provide real-time data from alarm systems, hazmat data sheets, communication with other crews, and much more.
